INTRODUCTION

The Laura Irene McKinney Collection (1807-1972) is centered around Laura Irene McKinney (1902-1984), collector of family genealogy, and resident of Etowah, Tennessee; her father, Samuel Walker McKinney (1878-1954), businessman and former alcohol tax investigator and resident of Etowah, Tennessee; and her brother, Colonel Harry Ellery McKinney (1904-1978), a retired career Army officer and resident of Lake Wales, Florida. The Laura Irene McKinney Collection is a gift of the Laura Irene McKinney Estate through the agency of John Long, Administrator, Athens, Tennessee.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The Laura Irene McKinney Collection, containing approximately 2000 items, covers the period 1807-1972. The collection is composed of accounts, associations, institutions, etc., certificates, church records, Civil War, clippings, correspondence, military records, obituaries, photographs, printed materials, programs, school records, slave records, speeches, writings and several miscellaneous items.

About one-half of the collection consists of genealogical data for the McKinney and related families of Albright, Ashby, Ayers, Brown, Bunch, Byerley, Bynum, Clapp, Cortner, (Goertner), Cummins (Cummings), Fort, Grigsby, Harbour, Hickey, Jarnigan, Julian, Merchant, Mynatt, Pettway, Rives (Ryves), Roberts, Shell, Skaggs, Smith, Walker, Watson, Weathers, Wilder, and Witt. There is also miscellaneous information for the Alloway, Bull, Cantrill, Carlock, Carson, Etchison, Graham, Henderson, Hopkins, Inman, Jenkins, Kimbrough, Lee, Linn (Lynnville), Loveday, McSpadden, Neal, Osborn (Osborne), Otey, Perrin, Reed, Ripley, Wolfenbarger, and York families.

Laura Irene McKinney (1902-1984), and her brother Harry Ellery McKinney (1904-1978), through the collection and organization of family genealogical data became members of several patriotic societies. Membership and other related materials may be found for the following patriotic organizations; Daughters of the American Colonists, Daughters of the American Revolution, the Huguenot Society of the Founders of Manakin, Sons of Confederate Veterans, Society of the War of 1812, Sons of the Revolution, United Daughters of the Confederacy, and U.S. Daughters of 1812.

Certificates include death, election, marriage, teacher's and voter's registration for various members of the McKinney family.

Among the church records in the collection is a copy of the history of Little Flat Creek Church in Knox County, Tennessee.

Civil War items include a claim by John Armstrong McKinney (1806-1880) for farm property stolen or destroyed by Federal soldiers during the war.

Most of the clippings in the collection relate to various families. Arranged according to family surnames, these newspaper articles often provide additional genealogical data. In addition, there are clippings on Etowah, Tennessee and its fifty-year celebration in 1956.

Correspondence generally concerns family matters. Additional subjects include politics, "moonshine", and the Korean War. There are several letters relating to state and national politics. Prominent political correspondents are Gordon Browning, Estes Kefauver, and Margaret Truman.

Samuel Walker McKinney (1878-1954), the father of Miss McKinney, was for many years the head of the U.S. Alcohol Tax Unit for 33 East Tennessee counties while owning a ladies' apparel store in Etowah. Beginning as an inspector, and later becoming head of the alcohol tax division, it was McKinney's responsibility to ensure the collection of revenue taxes on liquor. In the process of doing his duty, McKinney supervised the destruction of illegal moonshine stills. In his correspondence with Ava Head, manager of the Etowah business in his absence, Sam McKinney described his raids on the moonshine stills in the Tennessee hills (see box 3, folder 8).

Col. Harry E. McKinney, while serving as the Commanding Officer of the 19th Infantry Regiment in Korea, 1951-1952, describes in a letter to his wife, Helen Rubens McKinney, the intense fighting that soldiers in his command have recently experienced (see Box 3, Folder 5).

There are many land records (bills of sale, deeds, entries, grants, plats, and surveys) in the collection. The earliest document is a land grant by the State of Tennessee to Francis Mayberry in 1807 for two hundred and ninety acres in Grainger County.

Legal documents include agreements, bills of sale, contracts, co-partnerships, power of attorney, and wills.

There are various military records for Harry E. McKinney and his son, Horatio Walker McKinney (1933-).

Among the photographs are pictures taken of moonshine stills by Federal investigators in Crockett County in 1935.

Three bills of sale for slaves in 1834 and 1840 are found in the collection.

Col. McKinney was frequently requested to address patriotic meetings. In the collection are several of his speeches, including a favorite, "Republic vs. Democracy".

The books in the collection were removed to the Library holdings.

The Laura Irene McKinney Collection provides an abundant source of data on many Tennessee families as well as offering some insight on the activities of the U.S. Alcoholic Tax Unit in its war on the illegal production and sale of whiskey in the 1930's and 1940's.

In 2004, additional materials were discovered for the Irene McKinney Collection and were added in boxes 12 – 15. The materials found were of a similar nature as the materials in the original portion of the collection. Included in the new material are accounts, associations, certificates, clippings, correspondence, financial documents, land records, legal documents, licenses, medical records, military records, obituaries, photographs, printed materials, programs, sketches, and speeches.

Of interest in the materials added are clippings covering the work of Col. Harry McKinney, correspondence with Miss Irene McKinney, land records, military records, photographs of West Point Military Academy, and some speeches given by Colonel McKinney.

Of note, regarding the photographs in this collection, all photographs have been placed in box 15 of the collection, including photographs that were originally in box 11. In box 11, copies of the photographs have been left in the original folders in order to allow for all original photographs to be housed in the same box.

Also included with this Finding Aid is a Name Index for all correspondence in the collection. The name is divided into two parts, with the largest part being for the original collection and an addendum for the additional materials.
