STATE OF TENNESSEE
BOARD OF PAROLE
500 JAMES ROBERTSON PARKWAY
DAVY CROCKETT TOWER, FOURTH FLOOR
NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE 37243-0850 (615) 741-1150

October 1, 2023

The Honorable Bill Lee, Governor
General Assembly, State of Tennessee
State Capitol Building
Nashville, Tennessee 37243

Governor Lee and Members of the General Assembly:

It is my pleasure to present to you the Board of Parole's Annual Report for fiscal year 2022-23.

To fulfill the agency's mission to minimize public risk and promote lawful behavior by the prudent, orderly release of adult offenders, Board Members must determine whether to parole eligible felony offenders for community supervision, or to continue incarceration in Department of Correction (TDOC) or county facilities. To achieve that mission, the Board conducted 13,694 hearings in FY 2022-23. The Board also reviews all clemency requests and submits non-binding recommendations to the Governor for his consideration. The Board of Parole plays a major role in community safety, in keeping with its motto: "Safe communities, fewer victims, successful reentry."

The Board of Parole also provides cost avoidance for state government. For example, offenders placed on parole are supervised by TDOC in the community at a cost far lower than that of incarceration. In addition, the Board of Parole continues to invest in new technology including, but not limited to, video conferencing and web cameras, which has been critical to completing our mission. The result is that travel to state prisons or local jails for hearings is reduced, decreasing travel costs and increasing productive work hours.

The Board of Parole had 82 staff positions in FY 2022-23 with a budget of $10,425,900. The Board expresses its sincere appreciation to the members of Tennessee's Executive and Legislative branches for effectively providing leadership. We are also indebted to the BOP staff who devoted time, energy and skills to carrying out our mission, and we give them our sincere gratitude.

Respectfully Submitted,

Richard Montgomery, Chairman

Frequently Asked Questions About Parole

What is the Parole Board?

The Parole Board is an independent, seven-member board whose members are appointed by the Governor.

What are the Board's responsibilities?

The Parole Board makes decisions about which eligible offenders will be granted parole and placed on community supervision for the remainder of their sentences. The Board also has the power to revoke the parole of those offenders who do not abide by the conditions of their supervision. In addition, the Board reviews applications for executive clemency and makes non-binding recommendations to the Governor.

What is the Tennessee Board of Parole?

The agency includes the Parole Board, hearings and support staff, and administrative offices. With the exception of the Board Members, staff is managed by an Executive Director who oversees the day-to-day operations of the agency. Support and Hearings staff include Hearings Officers; Board Operations; Victim Services; General Counsel's Office; and the Research, Policy, and Planning division. Administrative offices include staff who maintain operational business functions, such as Fiscal, Human Resources, Communications, and Training.

What is parole?

Parole is the privilege of community supervision granted to an offender after he/she has served a percentage of his/her sentence, as determined by statute. Many offenders serve their sentences to expiration without ever receiving parole. If released to parole, offenders are supervised by officers employed by the Tennessee Department of Correction (TDOC). The Board may revoke this privilege and order a parolee who does not comply with the supervision rules to be returned to prison.

What factors does the Board consider in making parole decisions?

The Board considers many factors, including seriousness of the offense, time served, a risk/needs assessment, the offender's institutional record, victim input, and the statements of the offender and other interested parties, in determining whether to grant parole to an eligible offender. The complete criteria is part of BOP Rule 1100-01-01-.07 located online at:

<https://publications.tnsosfiles.com/rules/1100/1100.htm>

How does someone in prison get a parole hearing?

An offender's initial parole eligibility is calculated by TDOC, the official timekeeper for all offenders in state custody. TDOC then notifies the Board, and the Board schedules a hearing. If the offender does not receive parole, the Board may set the date for the next hearing, not to exceed six years in most cases. More details are included in the chart on page 3.

What is probation?

Probation is granted by the courts, normally in lieu of jail or prison time. The court of record may revoke the probation of any offender who does not comply with the rules of supervision. The Board of Parole has no role in probation cases. However, if an offender violates probation conditions, the judge may revoke probation and send the offender to prison. He or she might then become eligible for parole consideration at a future date.

What is Community Supervision for Life (CSL)?

An offender on Community Supervision for Life has completely served his/her sentence, but due to the nature of the crime, is required to remain under supervision of TDOC officers after the sentence expires. The offender is not released by the Parole Board.

The Parole Process

The Department of Correction (TDOC), the official timekeeper for all offenders in state custody, certifies an offender as eligible for parole consideration and notifies the Board of Parole.

Board of Parole staff schedule a hearing for the offender. Notification of the hearing date and time are sent to the offender and to registered interested parties in the case. The hearing takes place at the institution where the offender is incarcerated. Either a Board Member or a BOP Hearings Officer conducts the hearing.

At the hearing, the hearing official reviews the case and other documents pertinent to it, asks questions of the offender and interested parties in attendance, and gives the offender an opportunity to speak. If a Hearings Officer is conducting the hearing, he/she will conclude the proceeding by making a non-binding recommendation to the Board. If the hearing official is a Board Member, he/she will cast the first vote in the case.

The file then goes to other Board Members, who review it and cast their votes in the case. The Board's enabling statute provides for the requisite number of votes required for a decision in a particular case.

Once a decision is reached, the offender and interested parties are notified. There are two possible outcomes:

Parole Granted:

The offender completes any programs ordered by the Board prior to release and submits a release plan for approval. Once the release plan is approved, the parole certificate is issued and the offender is released to supervision by TDOC officers in the community.

Parole Denied:

When parole is denied, it is for a period not to exceed six years in most cases. During this time, the Board may ask the offender to complete programs that may contribute to his/her success once the offender returns to the community.

Parole Hearings Division

Parole hearings officers and Board members conduct parole hearings for all eligible offenders in Tennessee. During the past fiscal year, hearings officers conducted 12,994 hearings and made non-binding recommendations regarding offenders' parole sentences. Board members conducted 700 hearings. They also reviewed all hearings conducted by parole hearings officers and either adopted, modified or rejected the officers' recommendations.

Hearings officers function as an extension of the Board in the parole hearing process and assist in carrying out its statutory mandate to conduct parole hearings. Hearings officers are vital to the Board's prudent and orderly release of adult offenders. In accordance with TCA 40-28-105 (d)(2), hearings officers are appointed by the Chair of the Board of Parole and are empowered to conduct parole hearings. Hearings take place in local jails, detention facilities and Department of Correction (TDOC) institutions across the state for all eligible offenders who come under the purview of the Board. Hearings officers travel to all 95 counties in Tennessee to conduct parole hearings.

Offenders, public officials and interested parties receive advance notification of the date, time and location of the parole hearing. Hearings are open to the public, subject to security restrictions of the facility or institution. Interested parties in support or opposition who are unable to attend may submit written statements in advance to be included in the offender's file.

To reach a parole hearing decision, essential information is reviewed and considered. The information may include, but is not limited to, the following:

- Social and criminal history.
- Prior supervision history in the criminal justice system.
- Circumstances of the current offense(s).
- Institutional record and program participation.
- Statements and/or testimony of the offender.
- Recommendations and statements from family members, institutional staff, victims, and members of the community in support or opposition.
- Testimony of interested parties in support or opposition.
- Evidence and testimony pertaining to parole revocation.
- Proposed release plan provided by the offender or institutional staff.
- Other information deemed relevant to the hearing.

Advisory instruments are used and considered in the hearing process. These include a validated risk and needs assessment, parole revocation guidelines and release decision making guidelines.

Parole Hearings Division

Above Left: The Parole Hearings Division conducted their annual training in Sevierville in August 2022. Staff attended training sessions presented by the Board's General Counsel, Human Resources Division and Legislative Liaison. They also attended training presented by staff from Tennessee Department of Correction.

Appeals

TCA 40-28-105 (d)(11) mandates an appeal review process for offenders whose parole has been denied, revoked, or rescinded. The Parole Hearings Division processes appeal applications for the Board. Every appeal application is reviewed, and a determination is made as to whether the appeal meets the criteria for filing or whether a new hearing will be granted, according to statute. During FY 2022-23, the Board received 812 appeal applications related to this statute.

Accomplishments

- Where available, hearings officials continue to use video-conferencing equipment and webcams in conducting parole hearings, which reduces staff travel and enhances staff safety.
- The Hearings Division continues to collaborate with staff at county jails to improve connectivity and reduce man hours.
- The Hearings Division recently implemented use of a Paperless Appeal Review System to more efficiently review appeal requests.

Victim Services Division

The Board of Parole's Victim Services Division is proud to assist crime victims in Tennessee and is dedicated to helping crime victims navigate, understand and participate in the parole hearing process. Becoming a victim of crime is an experience for which most people are unprepared. Victims may experience intense fear, helplessness or horror, and can even develop post-traumatic stress disorder.

The Board of Parole's Victim Services Division works to achieve several important goals:

- To lessen victim concerns by providing direct and indirect assistance, education, and support throughout the parole process.
- To fulfill the laws that protect victims' rights.
- To address immediate public safety concerns.

Efforts are made to ensure the voices of victims and survivors of crime are heard, valued and included in a collective effort to prevent future harm and enhance community safety.

Parole hearings are held in TDOC prisons, CoreCivic facilities and county jails throughout the state. It is not uncommon for an inmate to be housed in a prison some distance from the county where the crime occurred. In order to help victims take part in the parole process and ease any travel burden, video-conferencing equipment is accessible at the Board's Central Office and at 14 probation/parole offices across the state.

Victims Services (L-R): Victim Services Director Doreisha Davis, Ebony Trammell, Mandy Tenpenny and Tiffany Johnson

Victims and their families have a right to voice opposition to an offender's release. They may participate in the parole hearing by attending in person (or by video-conferencing), or by submitting a victim impact statement, letter of opposition or confidential testimony.

Executive Clemency

Executive clemency includes commutations, pardons and exonerations, which only the Governor has the power to grant. The Board of Parole reviews executive clemency applications for the Governor. In Fiscal Year 2022-23, the agency received 474 applications for executive clemency: 367 commutation applications, 93 pardon applications, and 14 exoneration applications. Of those, 224 met the initial screening criteria for the Board to review, including 172 commutations, pardons, and 11 exonerations. The Board conducted 48 executive clemency hearings: nine commutations, 37 pardons, and two exonerations.
