

FUTURE READY SUMMIT

HELPING STUDENTS DISCOVER SUCCESSFUL ROUTES TO COLLEGE, CAREER & OPPORTUNITY

Today only about one in five Tennessee public school graduates is ready for college courses in reading, English, math, and science, and graduates who go straight from high school to the workforce without any kind of postsecondary training are less likely to make a livable wage upon graduation. Every student deserves to find in high school a route that will lead to success in the future.

You are invited to join other education and economic development leaders and the State Collaborative on Reforming Education \(SCORE\) for a one-day event in Nashville to explore innovative best practices and policy levers to ensure every Tennessee student has opportunities that lead to a successful future.
