Strategic Learning Solutions Division Team Members

Trish Pulley is Assistant Director of Strategic Learning Solutions, a division of the Tennessee Department of Human Resources.

She received her B.S. from Tennessee Technological University and an M.A. from Scarritt Graduate School, at Vanderbilt University. Trish has served in leadership roles in the non-profit community bringing to the state over 16 years experience in consulting, developing, and facilitating a variety of leadership and management programs on topics such as change management, conflict management, team building, interpersonal workforce relationships, and leadership management skill sets. Trish believes effective leadership begins with building trust-based relationships within the workplace one employee at a time.
