

NAEP 2011-2012 State-Specific Guidelines Summary for English Language Learners (ELL)
Long-Term Trend and Long-Term Trend Decision Tree Pilot (Ages 9, 13, 17)
Tennessee State Department of Education

The Tennessee State Department of Education expects that most English language learners (ELL) will participate in the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) including students who take the ELSA or MAAS assessments. Only English language learners who have been enrolled in United States schools for less than 12 months may be excluded from the NAEP assessment. All other English language learners should participate in NAEP using NAEP accommodations.

Please keep in mind that 2011-12 NAEP results are summarized only at the national level. In other words, unlike the TCAP assessments, NAEP assessments do not impose consequences for the student, the teacher, the school, district, or the state.

NAEP Accommodation	NAEP Subject	NAEP Accommodation Description	TCAP Accommodation
1 - Extended time	Mathematics and Reading	This accommodation requires that students be given extra time to complete the assessment. NOTE: If state test is untimed, students may or may not require extended time on NAEP. NAEP is a timed, but not a "speeded" test (it is not designed to evaluate how many questions a student can answer in a limited amount of time). Generally, most students are able to complete the NAEP cognitive sections in the time allowed (25 minutes per section).	Time and a half
2 – Small group	Mathematics and Reading	Generally, a small group session includes no more than five students. A student can be assigned to a small group session because he/she requires one, or because one or more of the accommodations he/she typically requires must be administered in a separate session to minimize distractions to other students in the regular session. 3 – One-on-one	Mathematics and Reading	This accommodation requires that a student is assessed individually in an area free of distractions.	Allowable Accommodation Flexible Setting
4 – Directions only read aloud in English	Mathematics and Reading	For this accommodation, students may have the general directions (the same for all students) and/or the subject-specific directions read aloud, repeated, or reworded in any way in English so that students understand what to do. NOTE: Some students' IEPs or 504 Plans stipulate that they should receive this accommodation. For those students, this will be coded as an accommodation. Students who do not have this as an IEP or 504 requirement, but who need the general directions (the same for all students) and/or the subject-specific directions read aloud, repeated, or reworded in any way in English can request this by raising his or her hand during the session, and it will not be recorded as an accommodation.	Read aloud in English Test Instructions
