

Everyone has thought about what it would be like to travel through time and visit the past or the future. If you had to pick what would it be? I would pick past because I would love to have met my anstors. Another reason is to see my child life. The last reason is because I dont want to ruin the future.

My first reason is so I could met my anstors. Like my great-great grandma. Also so I could see why my family is the way it is.

Another reason is so I can see my child life. See why im afraid of the dark or why I hate strawberrymilk. Also to see how my family reacted when I said my first word.

The last reason is because I dont want to ruin my future. See I dont want to ruin my future by spilling it like seeing who iam going to marry. Also seeing if I have kids or not. Thats just my main reason why I want to go back in time not foward.

Well those were just a few of my reasons of why I would go to the past. If you had to pick what would it be? I picked, past what about you?

Essay #9Score Point: 3

This limited essay demonstrates some degree of proficiency in expository writing skills. The writer chooses to visit the past, provides two reasons to support this choice, and presents an argument against visiting the future. The writer understands and employs the classic five-paragraph organizational format, including an introduction and a conclusion. The response displays sparse development and an inadequate explanation of key ideas. In addition to exhibiting a limited command of sentence structure, the writer demonstrates a pattern of inappropriate word choices (“so I could met my anstors,” “so I can see my child life,” “just a few of my reasons of why”).
