INTRODUCTION

The papers of Walter Wagner Faw (1867-1956), Representative of Williamson County in the General Assembly of 1905; Assistant State Attorney General, 1905-1913; Special Judge on Tennessee Supreme Court, 1914; Judge of Tennessee Court of Appeals, 1918-1940; and presiding Judge, 1923-1940, were given to Tennessee State Library and Archives by surviving members of his family.

The materials in this finding aid measure 83.2 linear feet. There are no restrictions on the materials.

Single photocopies of unpublished writings in the Walter Wagner Faw Papers may be made for purposes of scholarly research.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The papers of Walter Wagner Faw covering the period 1819-1956 and numbering approximately 62,500 items, contain accounts, correspondence, diaries, genealogical data, briefs, opinions, indentures, newspaper clippings, photographs, speeches, writings, and some miscellaneous memoranda and memorabilia. The bulk of the material falls within the years 1889-1940, during which time he practiced law and served on the bench of the Tennessee Court of Appeals. The earliest dates found in the collection are two accounts of Judge Faw's grandfather, Jonathan Faw, dated 1819 and 1820, two indentures dated 1826 and 1830, a patent granted in 1828, and a land grant dated 1829. The earliest letters in the collection were written in 1848 by Mathias M. and Mary S. Wagner, maternal grandparents of Walter Wagner Faw. There are several Civil War letters written by the Gentrys, Wagners, Faws, and other members of the family.

The largest portion of the material in the collection is correspondence. The part dealing with the family has been separated and is composed primarily of the correspondence of Judge Faw with his wife, Mattie Kernan Faw, and with members of their families. The general correspondence is largely concerned with Judge Faw's law practice, judicial practice, and several farms which he owned and operated in Tennessee and in Florida. This correspondence includes the names of J.H. Akin, Hu C. Anderson, Roy H. Beeler, Gordon Browning, Joseph W. Byrns, Newton Cannon, Jr., Charles T. Cates, Sid R. Clark, Prentice Cooper, Wirt Courtney Jr., Thad A. Cox, R.H. Crockett, Arthur Crownover, John H. DeWitt, R.E. Donnelly, Reau E. Folk, W.B. Greenlaw, Isaac Harr, F.H. Heiskell, Tom P. Henderson, J. Roy Hickerson, R.B.C. Howell, Cordell Hull, Harnett T. Kane, Estes Kefauver, M.C. Ketchum, Hill McAlister, Kenneth D. McKellar, W.O. Mims, A.B. Neil, W.A. Owen, L.P. Padgett, Austin Peay, Hal E. Portrum, LeRoy Reeves, A.H. Roberts, Dan M. Robison, J.D. Senter, John K. Shields, C.E. Snodgrass, E.B. Stahlman, W.H. Swiggart, Tom Stewart, Neal L. Thompson, S.C. Williams, Fred T. Wilson, George W. Winstead, and others. There are a large number of letters from C.J. Broyles, J.A. Summers, N.J. Wagner, and George T. White who were relatives and with whom Judge Faw had business dealings.

When Judge Faw retired from the bench in 1940, he took up genealogy as a hobby and the collection contains genealogical notes on the families of Asbury, Bell, Blackburn, Burnett, Campbell, Douglass, Eaton, Faw, Green, Hardeman, Hardin, Harding, Harris, Johnson, Kernan, Maury, McEwen, McGavock, Otey, Park, Perkins, Reynolds, Wagner, Watson, and White. Most of the material included in the family charts were taken from Judge Faw's notes.

There are a number of boxes of legal documents which include briefs for Chancery, Circuit, and Criminal Court cases; deeds; dockets; opinions; contracts; and wills. In this section of the papers are the incorporation papers for the towns of Franklin and Summertown. Several boxes contain miscellaneous memoranda, invitations, notices, historical sketches, and items of a personal nature. The newspaper clippings have been arranged according to persons and subject matter. Certificates received by Judge Faw on entering his several positions of public service, diplomas, and several maps, including a map of the Battle of Franklin made by Monroe Cockrill, make up the remainder of the collection.

NAME INDEX

This index contains the names of those persons with four or more letters in the collection except in cases where one or two letters have been considered of such importance as to warrant attention. Authors of letters of a purely business nature, such as insurance notices, bankers' communications, bookstore notices, routine letters about law cases, etc., even though the correspondence is large in volume, have been omitted from the index. The figures in parentheses immediately following each name denote the total number of letters from that person in the collection; the dates are for the period covered by the letters; identification of the writer is included whenever possible; and the last numbers given refer to the box or boxes in which the correspondence is to be found. State of Tennessee is not given.
