Documentation

STRENGTHS: Book is bias free and multicultural.

Book is built around Big Ideas which are concepts that should be discussed.

There are six units in the book - The Short Story, Nonfiction, Poetry, Drama, Epic and Myth, and Genre Fiction. Each unit contains a unit introduction that provides background information, a genre focus that defines literary elements in the unit, and a literary analysis model that helps students identify literary elements and analyze their use within the text.

Before each story, a section titled Before You Read provides background information about the literature and previews skills and strategies that will guide reading. Information on the author also appears in this section. Vocabulary words are introduced in the Before You Read section. Finally, there is a literature and reading preview that lists the basic tools that will be used to read and analyze the literary work.

The literature selection follows. In the selection, portions of the text are highlighted according to purpose. Yellow represents information that involves a Big Idea. Magenta (which looks more pink) represents a Literary element, and blue represents a Reading strategy.

In the After You Read section, questions labeled as Respond and Think Critically Section appear, along with vocabulary activities and writing activities. Academic Vocabulary is introduced in this section.

Each unit includes a Writing Workshop that takes a step-by-step approach to the writing process.

Instructions for the implementation of graphic organizers such as Foldables, diagrams, and charts, appear throughout the book.

The teacher’s edition is a wraparound edition that is organized in three parts - focus which includes a bellringer activity, teach with enrichment information, and assess sections. Progress Checks are provided throughout texts. These provide reteaching suggestions.

Text includes resource suggestions at point-of-use.
