Are you thinking about applying for a CON
to provide Home Health or Private Duty Nursing Services in Tennessee?

Here are several points for your consideration regarding TennCare reimbursement for these services:

1. Federal regulations define a Home Health (HH) agency as an agency which meets requirements for participation in Medicare. This is required in order for the agency to provide Medicaid (as well as Medicare)-reimbursed HH care.
2. TennCare and our Managed Care Organizations (MCOs) require that agencies who deliver Private Duty Nursing (PDN) also be Medicare-certified as HH agencies in order to ensure the quality of these services.
3. The Division of Health Care Facilities (HCF) can only certify a HH agency for participation in Medicare if the agency will in fact provide services covered by Medicare, i.e., HH services. HCF cannot certify a HH agency for participation in Medicare in order to deliver only PDN, which is not a Medicare benefit.
4. Thus, a HH agency with a CON that is restricted only to the provision of PDN will not be qualified to deliver these services under the TennCare program, and cannot be contracted by TennCare's MCOs to deliver this service.
5. Even if a HH agency is certified for Medicare participation and thus, eligible for participation as a TennCare provider of HH or PDN services, it does not obligate the MCO to contract with such provider. MCOs are only obligated to contract with qualified providers as needed to maintain an adequate network.
6. Effective 9/8/2008, HH/PDN benefits for adults age 21 and older are as follows:

PRIVATE DUTY NURSING

TennCare will only cover Private Duty Nursing (PDN) for adult patients who:

1. Are ventilator dependent (for at least 12 hours per day), OR
2. Have a functioning tracheostomy requiring suctioning AND need other specified types of nursing care*.

* Patient must require all of the following: 1) oxygen, 2) nebulizer or cough assist, 3) medication via G-tube, PICC line or central port and 4) TPN or nutrition via G-tube.

7. In developing your business plan for HH and/or PDN services, talk with TennCare MCOs about their need for additional providers before you plan on TennCare reimbursement for these services.
8. Nursing services are also reimbursed for adults age 21 and older under TennCare through several Home and Community Based Services (HCBS) Waiver Programs for persons with Mental Retardation (MR), subject to limits effective February 15, 2011. In the MR Waivers, an agency may be licensed as a Home Health agency (i.e., Home Care Organization) to provide Professional Support Services, which does not require a CON. Under the HCBS MR waivers, all willing and qualified providers will be enrolled.
