

TENNESSEE STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION
PARENT/FAMILY INVOLVEMENT AND COMMUNITY SCHOOLS	4.207

Senate Bill No. 293, of the 106th General Assembly was enacted to require the Tennessee Department of Education to develop parental involvement standards. In addition, this legislation requires the State to report schools' and districts' compliance with the standards on the Tennessee report card starting with school year 2010-2011.

In 2003, the Tennessee State Board of Education adopted parental involvement standards (Policy 4.207 Parent Family Involvement). As a result of Senate Bill No. 293, the Department convened a task force to review the current parental involvement standards and the current National Parent Teacher Association (PTA) standards. The task force recommends that Policy 4.207 Parent Family Involvement be replaced with the Tennessee Standards for Family-School Partnerships, which are based on the current National PTA standards available at http://www.pta.org/National_Standards_Assessment_Guide.pdf.

Community Schools

Public Chapter 968 of the 108th General Assembly created the Tennessee Community Schools Act (codified at T.C.A. §§ 49-6-2401 through 49-6-2406). The Community Schools Act encourages LEAs to establish and seek funding for community schools that provide a range of community services to students and community residents.

The State Board of Education encourages LEAs to form community schools. If an LEA chooses to establish a community school or schools, the LEA shall permit teachers to receive in-service credit for teaching classes for parents, such as parenting classes, at the community school if such classes are taught outside of regular school hours.
