2017 Standard 1: Content Knowledge	2021 Standard 1: Content Knowledge
1.1 Content Knowledge. Educator candidates must demonstrate knowledge of theoretical and research-based instructional practices related to students’ literacy development, language acquisition, reading, writing, and communication, including knowledge of: a. Cognitive, linguistic, motivational and sociocultural foundations of reading, writing, speaking, and listening development; b. Students’ literacy development from birth through high school; c. Students’ cultural and linguistic (e.g., different dialects, languages other than English) histories as a resource for literacy development and instruction; d. Developmentally appropriate instructional practices that are responsive to diversity of all forms and that support equitable learning opportunities and success of all students; e. Oral language as a basis for reading development, including knowledge of students’ dialect or different language characteristics, and language processing skills (including phonology, orthography, syntax, semantics, and discourse level skills); f. Word level skills, vocabulary knowledge and acquisition, and knowledge of text craft and structure (including literary, persuasive, and informational); g. Ways to traverse diverse and complex texts, including traditional print texts and digital texts, selecting texts that are representative of diverse cultural and linguistic experiences of students; and	1.1 Content Knowledge. Educator candidates must demonstrate knowledge of theoretical and research-based instructional practices related to students’ literacy development, language acquisition, reading, writing, and communication, including knowledge of: a. How to integrate knowledge and ideas across texts, through reading comprehension of texts, when composing texts, and when demonstrating understanding through speaking and writing
1.2 Word Level Skills. Educator candidates must demonstrate mastery of the skills students need to be taught (e.g., spoken words, sounds and syllables) and are able to teach students how to employ the many components of word level skills, including: a. Oral language awareness – ways in which oral language is developed and engaged across the disciplines and in daily life; b. The organization and basic features of print - including orthography, syntax, discourse structure; c. Phonological awareness – sound articulation and pronunciation, spoken words, onset and rime, syllables and sounds (phonemes); d. Phonics and word recognition - understanding of letter-sound knowledge and alphabetic understanding, phonic/structural analysis elements along a continuum for decoding when reading grade-level texts; word analysis skills when decoding isolated words and in connected text, regular word reading, irregular word reading and reading in decodable text;	1.2 Foundational Literacy Skills. Educator candidates must demonstrate mastery of the skills students need to be taught (e.g., spoken words, sounds, and syllables) and are able to teach students how to employ the many components of foundational literacy skills, including: a. Oral English language – spoken language, including spoken words and articulated sounds; b. The organization and basic features of print - including orthography, syntax, and discourse structure; c. Phonological awareness – the ability to identify and manipulate oral language including words, syllables, onsets, and rimes and is inclusive of the advanced skills within phonemic awareness; d. Phonemic awareness – the specific ability to focus on and manipulate individual sounds (phonemes) in spoken words; e. Phonics and word recognition - understanding of letter-sound knowledge and alphabetic understanding, phonic/structural analysis elements along a continuum for decoding when reading grade-level texts; word analysis skills when decoding isolated words and in connected text, regular word reading, irregular word reading, and reading in decodable text; f. Decoding – the ability to apply knowledge of letter-sound relationships as well as letter patterns to correctly pronounce written words; g. Letter knowledge – the ability to identify the letters of the alphabet with speed and automaticity and understanding of the alphabetic and print concepts, as well as ability to identify and discriminate between letters (visual discrimination);

e. Word composition - encoding when writing: grade-level phonics and word analysis skills when encoding words, writing legibly; f. Advanced word study - understanding morphology, syllabication, study of word parts, regular word reading, irregular word reading, entomology, Greek and Latin roots, and inflectional endings; and g. Fluency - reading with sufficient automaticity, pacing, prosody (e.g., intonation, tone, stress, rhythm), and accuracy to support comprehension across the disciplines.	h. Word composition - encoding when writing: grade-level phonics and word analysis skills when encoding words, writing legibly; i. Advanced word study - understanding morphology, syllabication, study of word parts, regular word reading, irregular word reading, entomology, Greek and Latin roots, and inflectional endings; and j. Fluency - reading with sufficient automaticity, pacing, prosody (e.g., intonation, tone, stress, rhythm), and accuracy to support comprehension across the disciplines.
1.3 Vocabulary Knowledge and Acquisition. Educator candidates must demonstrate their knowledge and mastery of the skills to prepare students to: a. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases by using context clues, analyzing meaningful word parts, and consulting general and specialized reference materials, as appropriate, to support comprehension of connected text; b. Comprehend figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings and employ them in writing; c. Acquire and accurately use general academic and domain-specific words and phrases necessary for comprehension, discussion, and writing about complex texts, and that meet the demands for reading, writing, speaking, and listening in post-secondary and the workforce; d. Develop independence in acquiring vocabulary knowledge when considering a word or phrase important to comprehension or expression; e. Interpret words and phrases as they are used in a text, including technical, connotative, and figurative meanings and analyze how specific word choices shape meaning or tone; and f. Develop a broad, expressive vocabulary and apply vocabulary words with precision in both oral and written settings to more accurately convey meaning and interest.
1.4. Craft and Structure of the Language of Texts (including print, visual, multimodal, and digital texts). Educator candidates must demonstrate their knowledge and mastery of the skills to prepare students to: a. Apply knowledge of language to understand how language functions in different contexts, to make effective choices for meaning or style, and to comprehend more fully when reading or listening; b. Recognize various text structures and employ specific comprehension strategies based on the unique demands of the text structure and organization;

c. Read closely and answer text dependent questions to determine what a text says explicitly and to generate logical inferences; cite specific textual evidence when writing or speaking to support conclusions drawn from a text; d. Determine central ideas or themes of a text and analyze their development; summarize the key supporting details and ideas; e. Analyze how and why individuals, events, and ideas develop and interact over the course of a text; f. Analyze the structure of texts and how specific sentences, paragraphs, and larger portions of a text (e.g., a section, chapter, scene or stanza) relate to each other and the whole; g. Assess how point of view and purpose shape the content and style of a text; and h. Use understandings of the craft and structure of texts to convey ideas in writing for different purposes and audiences.
1.5. Range of Texts and Text Complexity. Educator candidates must demonstrate their knowledge and mastery of the skills to prepare students to: a. Read and comprehend complex literary and informational texts independently and proficiently; recognize various text structures and employ specific comprehension strategies based on the unique demands of the text structure and organization; and b. Produce texts representing a range of text types (genre) and complexity for different purposes and audiences.
1.6. Integration of Knowledge and Ideas. Educator candidates must demonstrate their knowledge and mastery of the skills to prepare students to: a. Integrate and evaluate content presented in diverse formats and media, including content presented visually and quantitatively, as well as in word form; b. Delineate and evaluate the argument and specific claims in a text, including the validity of the reasoning as well as the relevance and sufficiency of the evidence; c. Analyze how two or more texts address similar themes or topics in order to build knowledge or to compare the approaches an author takes; d. Integrate foundational skills and strategies within authentic reading and writing contexts; and e. Make connections to reading and writing across the disciplines
1.7. Comprehension and Collaboration. Educator candidates must demonstrate their knowledge and mastery of the skills to prepare students to:	1.7. Comprehension and Collaboration. Educator candidates must demonstrate their knowledge and mastery of the skills to prepare students to: a. Develop a deep understanding of language comprehension, including background knowledge, vocabulary, language structures,

a. Participate effectively in a range of conversations and collaborations with varied partners, building on others' ideas and expressing their own ideas clearly and persuasively; b. Evaluate a speaker's point of view, reasoning, use of evidence and rhetoric; c. Ask and answer questions to demonstrate comprehension when information is presented orally in a range of settings and from diverse speakers (e.g., directions, texts, presentations, and videos); d. Present information, findings, and supporting evidence such that listeners can follow the line of reasoning; e. Ensure that the organization, development, and style of communication are appropriate to the task, purpose, and audience; f. Make strategic use of texts, digital media, and visual displays of data to express information and enhance understanding of presentations; and g. Adapt speech to a variety of contexts and communicative tasks, demonstrating command of formal English when indicated or appropriate.	verbal reasoning and literacy knowledge and its impact on skilled reading in conjunction with foundational literacy skills; b. Participate effectively in a range of conversations and collaborations with varied partners, building on others' ideas and expressing their own ideas clearly and persuasively; c. Evaluate a speaker's point of view, reasoning, use of evidence and rhetoric; d. Ask and answer questions to demonstrate comprehension when information is presented orally in a range of settings and from diverse speakers (e.g., directions, texts, presentations, and videos); e. Make strategic use of texts, digital media, and visual displays of data to express information and enhance understanding of presentations; and h. Adapt speech to a variety of contexts and communicative tasks, demonstrating command of formal English when indicated or appropriate.
1.8. Writing. Educator candidates must demonstrate their knowledge and mastery of the skills to prepare students to: a. Use conventions of standard English grammar and usage when speaking and conventions of standard English grammar and usage, including capitalization and punctuation, when writing; b. Recognize the purpose (i.e., to communicate ideas to be understood by others) and subsequent formatting (e.g., formal, informal, creative, expository, etc.) for writing; c. Engage in writing as a process involving actions such as brainstorming, revising, editing, and publishing, and not just a product; d. Write arguments to support claims in an analysis of substantive topics or texts, using valid reasoning and relevant and sufficient evidence;

- e. Write informative/explanatory texts to examine and convey complex ideas and information clearly and accurately through the effective selection, organization, and analysis of content;
- f. Write narratives to develop real or imagined experiences or events using effective techniques, well-chosen details, and well-structured event sequences;
- g. Produce clear and coherent writing in which the development and organization are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience;
- h. Develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach;
- i. Use technology, including the internet, to produce and publish writing and to interact and collaborate with others;
- j. Integrate relevant and credible information from multiple print and digital sources while avoiding plagiarism;
- k. Draw evidence from literary or informational texts to support analysis, reflection, and research;
- l. Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences; and
- m. Conduct short as well as more sustained research projects based on focus questions, demonstrating new understanding of the subject under investigation.

2017 Standard 2: Language and Literacy Rich Environment	2021 Standard 2: Language and Literacy Rich Environment
Educator candidates shall: 2.1. Demonstrate and apply knowledge about individual development in language and literacy, including identifying and responding to the uniqueness of each student. 2.2. Demonstrate and apply knowledge of language diversity as a source of strength in society to be encouraged and not discouraged. 2.3. Identify differences between students progressing successfully toward literacy and those who are not progressing, including their personal experiences and dispositions (e.g., poverty, poor or unsuccessful experiences with reading), and their access to books and exposure to high quality instruction, and implement instruction responsive to these differences. 2.4. Use a range of texts, including print and digital, to provide a wide range of reading choices for students, and incorporate texts that represent students’ existing knowledge, interests, and cultural diversity. 2.5. Incorporate disciplinary and instructional texts representing diverse students, multiple genres, perspectives, and media necessary to prepare all students for literacy tasks for the 21st century. 2.6. Establish literacy learning classroom environments that enable multiple classroom organizations, including those that support individual and collaborative learning, and promote peer-to-peer interaction.	Educator candidates shall: 2.1. 2.7. Demonstrate the ability to help students participate as knowledgeable, reflective, creative, caring, respectful, and critical members of a variety of literacy communities (e.g., home, classroom, school, workplace, and community), and within globally and digitally connected communities. 2.8. Position students as knowledgeable and valuable contributors of information (e.g., cooperative speaking opportunities, brainstorming discussions), which allows all students to participate, regardless of their speaking or writing proficiency. 2.9. Utilize routines and structures that prompt frequent language interactions (e.g., turn and talks, quick writes). 2.10. Create a physical environment that presents varied language representations (e.g., images, charts, lists, poems) and that provides resources that support students’ language and literacy development (e.g., anchor posters, word walls, picture or print dictionaries).	2.8. 2017 – Standard did not previously exist	2021 Standard 3: High-Quality Instructional Materials (HQIM) and Lesson Preparation
	Educator candidates shall: 3.1. Describe design principles of high-quality instructional materials in English language arts and literacy, including use of evidence-based practices; alignment to grade-level standards; coherent progressions of content and tasks; and access points supporting all students to engage meaningfully in grade-appropriate learning centered on complex texts. 3.2. Implement high-quality instructional materials with integrity to their design principles, choosing scaffolds and supports matched to

	individual students’ strengths and needs, while maintaining grade-appropriate rigor and alignment to Tennessee Academic Standards in all literacy instruction. 3.3. Use unit and lesson preparation protocols focused on intellectual preparation (i.e., a focused form of lesson preparation that helps a teacher prepare to teach using existing lesson plans within high-quality instructional materials in lieu of creating their own lesson plans outside of the adopted high-quality instructional materials) and internalization of high-quality instructional materials (i.e., the act of teacher practicing the lessons with HQIM to effectively deliver lessons) to prepare to deliver instruction.

2017 – Standard 4: Assessment and Evaluation	2021 Standard 5: Foundational Literacy Skills Assessment and Evaluation
Educator candidates shall: 4.2. Select and implement literacy assessment and evaluation tools appropriately and for different purposes (e.g., screening, diagnostic, curriculum based, progress monitoring, formative or benchmark, and summative or outcome) to inform literacy instruction and intervention.	Educator candidates shall: 5.1. Implement universal screeners to identify students who may be at-risk for significant reading deficiency or who have a significant reading deficiency and who require further assessment and intervention. 5.2. Implement foundational literacy skills assessment and evaluation tools appropriately and for different purposes to inform literacy instruction and intervention, including diagnostic assessments (“Diagnostic” or “Survey Level Assessment”) and progress monitoring assessments. a. Universal Screener assessment – assessments or subtests that are valid, reliable, fair, nationally normed, and backed by scientifically based reading research. These assessments are a brief procedure designed as a first step in identifying students who may be considered at-risk of academic failure, including: students who possess a significant reading deficiency and who are in need of further diagnostic- or survey-level assessment and additional interventions; students in need of additional remediation; and students who may benefit from enrichment. These assessments are not used to diagnose specific skill gaps; rather, these assessments help to identify children who need diagnostic assessments, as well as children who may require supplemental intervention and/or enrichment. Screening assessments should be relatively fast and efficient to administer.

4.4. Select and implement assessments that recognize students' multiple ways of communicating their knowledge and understandings (e.g., drawing or sketching coupled with student interviews to assess text comprehension). 4.1. Describe how literacy assessment connects to and supports planning appropriate and differentiated instruction within the classroom and within the RT12 framework. 4.3. Select and implement valid, reliable, and appropriate assessments to obtain information on student language acquisition and literacy development; select assessments that are free from explicit or implicit cultural bias. 4.5. Select and implement diagnostic assessments to identify students' literacy strengths and needs in areas of knowledge and vocabulary development, text comprehension, and skill and strategy development. 4.6. Analyze students' cultural and experiential differences through a critical analysis of diagnostic data to identify what students understand about the literacy tasks, such as comprehending texts, and how they	b. Diagnostic Assessment (“Diagnostic” or “Survey Level Assessment”) – Assessments for better understanding student skill development needs, building upon Screener results to provide in-depth analysis of specific reading deficiency that can be used to prescribe interventions. c. Progress Monitoring assessment- Progress monitoring is used to assess students' academic performance, to quantify a student's rate of improvement or responsiveness to instruction, and to evaluate the effectiveness of instruction. Unlike Screeners, Progress Monitoring Assessments must be sensitive to growth and require multiple forms. These assess students' specific reading skills and have a direct, reliable, and valid relationship to Diagnostic and Screener Assessments to show progress on shared measurement areas. 5.3 Select and implement additional literacy assessment and evaluation tools appropriately and for different purposes (e.g., curriculum-based, formative or benchmark, and summative or outcome) to inform literacy instruction and intervention. 5.4 Describe how literacy assessment connects to and supports planning appropriate and differentiated instruction within the classroom and within the RT12 framework and in accordance with T.C.A. § 49-1-229. 5.5 Select and implement valid, reliable, and appropriate assessments to obtain information on student language acquisition and literacy development; select assessments that are free from explicit or implicit cultural bias. 5.6 Select and implement diagnostic assessments to identify students' literacy strengths and needs in areas of knowledge and vocabulary development, text comprehension, and skill and strategy development. 5.7 Analyze students' cultural and experiential differences through a critical analysis of diagnostic data to identify what students understand about the literacy tasks, such as comprehending texts, and how they

Interpret literacy assessment data effectively in order to reflect upon, design, and redesign instruction and interventions according to the data. This includes making databased decisions about providing explicit, systemic instruction with carefully applied scaffolds that are appropriate to address identified instructional goals. 4.8. Communicate and present literacy assessment information effectively, in oral and written form, to various audiences (e.g., other professionals, administrators, students, and parents). 4.9. Communicate and collaborate effectively with peers, assessment team members, reading and other specialists to select appropriate assessments and interpret data to inform instructional planning for students experiencing literacy difficulties. 4.10. Communicate and collaborate effectively with reading and bilingual specialists to design, implement, and interpret data from appropriate assessments for English Learners.	come to those understandings (information and strategies they are using). 5.8 Interpret literacy assessment data effectively in order to reflect upon, design, and re-design instruction and interventions according to the data.
