What accessibility supports are available for students?

Decisions regarding accessibility supports must be made on an individual student basis and must be required for the student to access the content. Additional details regarding test accessibility is available in the department's Accessibility Guide, which is available on TNReady.gov.

When will TNReady be administered?

Districts decide when to administer TNReady based on what is best for their schools and students. Students will take TNReady on district-chosen days between April 16-May 4, 2018.

Will scores be factored into student grades?

The department provides school districts with raw data from state testing. Raw data means how many questions a student answered correctly. Districts set local policies to determine how to translate these raw scores to a 100-point grading scale. If districts receive this information before the final five days of the school year, they are required to include TNReady as 15% of a student's grade for 2017-18. However, if they receive this information less than five days before the end of the school year (or after the year is over), it is the school district's choice whether to include state test scores in students' grades. We will provide updated information on the timing of student results and family score reports at the end of the school year.

Where can I find resources on TNReady?

Your student's teacher is always the best resource for questions about TNReady.
