NRS26.155

Applicant: Carl Forsbach
Activity: In an effort to control the severe bank erosion along a stretch of the Tennessee River bordering our farm, we are proposing, in partnership with the West Tennessee River Basin Authority, and the Tennessee Valley Authority, to stabilize approximately 2542 linear feet of streambank between Tennessee River miles 193.9 thru 194.7 (right bank) utilizing a lateral stone toe stabilization technique for wave action protection and riparian habitat enhancement. Rock Riprap will be placed at the toe of the eroding bank which secures the lower portion of the streambank so that the entire bank becomes stabilized over time. The area adjacent to the stone toe will be partially submerged wetland vegetation. The upper slope will be woody vegetation similar to native trees and shrubs. A Minimum 30-foot vegetated buffer zone will be installed along the top of bank..
