Public Charter School Data In Focus: A Deep Dive Into Stanford University's National Charter School Study

Thursday, October 5, 2023 | 9:00-11:00 a.m. (CDT)

John Seigenthaler Center

1207 18th Ave. South, Nashville, Tennessee 37212

In June 2023, Stanford University's Center for Research on Education Outcomes (CREDO) released the third installment of their National Charter School Study, which assesses students' academic growth in charter schools across the United States. Join us for this event, Public Charter School Data in Focus: A Deep Dive Into Stanford University's National Charter School Study, where we will discuss the results of the new national study, including data specific to Tennessee's public charter schools.

- Keynote Presentation: Macke Raymond, Director of Stanford University's Center for Research on Education Outcomes (CREDO), will share results from the study, highlighting national data and data specific to Tennessee.
- Panel Discussion: Tennessee education leaders will discuss what these results mean for Tennessee's public charter school students.
- Networking reception begins at 9:00 a.m. (CDT); program starts at 9:30 a.m.

Register now to attend in person or join us virtually.
