JOB OVERVIEW
The Regional Medical Director will provide clinical care guidance and administrative direction to the county health departments within the region. He/She will lead quality improvement initiatives; direct and supervise clinicians providing care in Women's Health, Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV), Tuberculosis, Communicable Disease and Emergency Preparedness sections; and coordinate primary care services. The incumbent will oversee all nursing program areas including Family Planning, Immunizations, Sexually Transmitted Disease treatment, Tennessee Breast and Cervical Cancer Screening Program, Quality Assurance, and other Family Health and Wellness services such as Women, Infants, and Children program, and the Community Health Access and Navigation in Tennessee program.

The Regional Medical Director will respond to communicable and infectious disease reports and provide oversight for the treatment of specific diseases and prevention services. The incumbent will ensure the Child Fatality Review process is conducted as mandated by legislation and oversee the region's participation in the Professional Standards Board. He/She will provide or delegate on call services at all times.

The Regional Medical Director will be on the regional team responsible for appropriately running the Federally Qualified Health Center in Stewart County and respond to federal information requests and/or audit findings.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS
Experience leading clinical teams in quality and process improvement initiatives. Excellent communication skills and the ability to interface with the community as a public health officer. A Masters in Public Health or similar degree or an understanding of communicable diseases and public health mitigation and prevention.
