

Parent Survey

This survey is optional. It was designed to assist in building community support around sexual violence prevention education with young people. The survey is a tool to gather parents' views about the promotion of healthy relationships and dating violence prevention for their youth. The results may help support community involvement and promotion of rape prevention education with youth. The survey can be administered online or on paper. The UTK evaluation team will enter data from paper surveys and provide you with a community data summary. The use of the survey is flexible.

It can be administered at various places such as:

- schools
- churches
- community centers
- other organizations that are considering sexual violence prevention with youth.

The survey includes questions about:

- Parent characteristics
- Dating violence education topics
- Grade level appropriateness of topics
- Who should teach youth about dating violence prevention
- Who should be involved in preventing dating harassment
