Part 2: Additional Information

IF YOU FALSIFY INFORMATION ON THIS FORM, YOU WILL BE SUBJECT TO CRIMINAL PROSECUTION

The penalty for falsification of the information required on this form is criminal prosecution and can result in a jail sentence of up to eleven (11) months and twenty-nine (29) days or a fine of up to twenty-five hundred dollars ($2500), or both.

Employment with a childcare agency depends upon the outcome of the criminal/juvenile history background check and state registry reviews. This means that if a criminal or juvenile history background check determines that you have been convicted, or have pled guilty or no contest to certain crimes, or a juvenile court has found that you committed an offense that would be an excludable crime if you were an adult, or if you have certain pending criminal or juvenile charges, or you are indicated on the Department of Children’s Services indicated abuse perpetrator Registry, the Department of Health’s Vulnerable Persons Registry, the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation’s Sexual Offender Registry, you will not be able to be work in, volunteer at, provide substitute services to, reside in, or have any access whatsoever to the agency.

You must answer the following questions even if your records, including juvenile records, were sealed or otherwise cleared or if anyone, including a judge, law enforcement officer, or lawyer, told you that you no longer have a record. If your charges were dropped, resulted in non-conviction, dismissed, expunged, etc., (regardless of how long ago they occurred) list them below.

The information on this page serves as written notification that your fingerprints will be used to check the criminal history records of the FBI. If you have a criminal history record, and you wish to complete or challenge the accuracy of the information in the record, please follow the procedures outlined below.

NONCRIMINAL JUSTICE APPLICANT'S PRIVACY RIGHTS

As an applicant who is the subject of a national fingerprint-based criminal history record check for a noncriminal justice purpose (such as an application for a job or license, an immigration or naturalization matter, security clearance, or adoption), you have certain rights which are discussed below.

- You must be provided written notification¹ that your fingerprints will be used to check the criminal history records of the FBI.
- If you have a criminal history record, the officials making a determination of your suitability for the job, license, or other benefit must provide you the opportunity to complete or challenge the accuracy of the information in the record.
- The officials must advise you that the procedures for obtaining a change, correction, or updating of your criminal history record are set forth at Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations (CFR), Section 16.34.
- If you have a criminal history record, you should be afforded a reasonable amount of time to correct or complete the record (or decline to do so) before the officials deny you the job, license, or other benefit based on information in the criminal history record.²

You have the right to expect that officials receiving the results of the criminal history record check will use it only for authorized purposes and will not retain or disseminate it in violation of federal statute, regulation or executive order, or rule, procedure or standard established by the National Crime Prevention and Privacy Compact Council.³

If agency policy permits, the officials may provide you with a copy of your FBI criminal history record for review and possible challenge. If agency policy does not permit it to provide you a copy of the record, you may obtain a copy of the record by submitting fingerprints and a fee to the FBI. Information regarding this process may be obtained at <http://www.fbi.gov/about-us/cjis/background-checks>.

If you decide to challenge the accuracy or completeness of your FBI criminal history record, you should send your challenge to the agency that contributed the questioned information to the FBI. Alternatively, you may send your challenge directly to the FBI. The FBI will then forward your challenge to the agency that contributed the questioned information and request the agency to verify or correct the challenged entry. Upon receipt of an official communication from that agency, the FBI will make any necessary changes/corrections to your record in accordance with the information supplied by that agency. (See 28 CFR 16.30 through 16.34.)

¹Written notification includes electronic notification but excludes oral notification.
