Opioid Investigations and Litigation

- Opioid crisis led to extensive investigations and litigation by states, local governments and other public entities, leading to thousands of lawsuits being filed nationwide.
- More than five years ago, serious efforts began to resolve claims and begin adding resources to efforts to abate the crisis.

• Now have agreements with some companies while litigation and other efforts continue with others.

Current Sources of Abatement Funds

- Settlements:
 - McKinsey
 - "Distributor settlement" with three national pharmaceutical distributors: AmerisourceBergen Corporation, Cardinal Health, Inc. and McKesson Corporation.
 - "J&J settlement" with Johnson & Johnson and its subsidiaries, including Janssen
- Bankruptcy plans:
 - Mallinckrodt
 - Purdue (status on appeal)

Use of Abatement Funds

- Tennessee statutes and the trust agreement for the TN Opioid Abatement Trust Fund
- Settlement agreements
- Bankruptcy plans
- TN State-Subdivision Opioid Abatement Agreement:
 - Agreement between State and its local governments
 - Replaces default provisions concerning disbursement of funds in settlement agreements and bankruptcy plans

Use of Funds: General Requirements

• Funds going into the Opioid Abatement Fund must be used on future opioid abatement.

- Detailed list of potential programs and expenditures
 - Exhibit to settlement agreements
 - Exhibit to bankruptcy plans
- Reporting

Disbursement of Funds Based on Public Chapter 491 of 2021

- Distributor and J&J Settlements:
 - 15% paid directly to State of Tennessee's General Fund
 - 15% paid directly to qualifying Subdivisions based on settlement agreement.
 - 70% paid into the Opioid Abatement Fund
 - By statute, 35% of the 70% of the Abatement Funds from these two settlements are directed to the counties to use on programs approved by the Council.
 - The Council has discretion concerning the remaining 65% of the 70% of the funds.
 - Bankruptcy plans:
 - State-Subdivision
 Agreement adopts same approach for bankruptcy funds paid into Opioid Abatement Fund.
 - No direct payments to State or Subdivisions

Opioid Abatement Funds – 2022

- Please Note: All funds currently rest with the Treasury in a Trust Fund Account. We will hear more during the September meeting. Please be patient during this process as there is a lot of administrative processes to be sorted out.
