Make an Impact

The average employer will only spend a few seconds looking at your resume. If they don't see what they want – you are tossed to the side. Many don't make it past the automated systems that are used today. There may be hundreds of applicants. That means hundreds of resumes. We want to help you get yours to the top of the pile.

The Right Fit

Chronological, Functional, Combination... which one works best? Private sector job or Federal job? Every job is different. So should your resume be. Your resume should be specific to each job you are applying for. We can help you build the right resume for your needs.

Skills

Don't have a lot of work experience or do you have a lot of different experiences? We can help you highlight and organize key skills. Skills you didn't realize you had. You may be more qualified than you think.
