Active and Inactive Status of Users in the TnCOP/CRMS System

If you have an officer or agency user that has been suspended, placed on administrative leave pending investigation, etc., that user's status should be set to Inactive in the TnCOP/CRMS. Any persons who have been terminated should have their accounts deleted immediately. If the user is not working in a law enforcement capacity at your agency, either temporarily or permanently, they do not have a legitimate need for the use of the system.

Use of the system and agency accounts are monitored by the CJIS Support Center for compliance with administrative rules.

Please be aware that the fax number for the CJIS Support Center has changed. All faxes should be sent to 615-744-4555.

Incident Date for a Justifiable Homicide: What if the Victim Doesn't Die the Same Day?

JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE (09C)

Definition: The killing of a perpetrator of a serious criminal offense by a peace officer in the line of duty; or the killing, during the commission of a serious criminal offense, of the perpetrator by a private individual.

Justifiable Homicide is not a criminal offense and therefore is not included in an agency's crime count. A serious criminal offense is a felony or high misdemeanor. Do not count a killing as justifiable or excusable solely on the basis of self-defense or the action of a coroner, prosecutor, grand jury, or court. The willful killing of one individual by another is being reported, not the criminal liability of the person or persons involved. For TIBRS purposes, crime determinations and counts are based on law enforcement investigations.

Justifiable Homicide, by definition, often occurs in conjunction with other offenses. The crime that was being committed when the justifiable homicide took place must be reported as a separate incident. These guidelines are based on the definition of an incident which requires that all of the offenders act in concert. It cannot be said that the criminal who was killed acted in concert with the police officer or civilian who killed him; nor that the police officer or civilian who killed the criminal acted in concert with the criminal in committing the offense that gave rise to the justifiable homicide. Therefore, justifiable homicide cases involve two incidents rather than one.

Scenario 1: On May 1st, John shot at a police officer and missed. The officer returned fire. John was hit in the chest and was taken to the hospital. The incident should be entered as Aggravated Assault and a Weapon Law Violation. Two days later, (May 3rd), John died as a result of his gunshot wound. At that point, the agency would enter a separate incident of Justifiable Homicide. The incident date is the date John was shot by the officer - May 1st. The officer is the offender in the Justifiable Homicide, and John is the victim.

Scenario 2: On July 1st, Bob shot a police officer. The officer returned fire and shot Bob in the chest. Both survived and were taken to the hospital. The incident should be entered as Aggravated Assault and a Weapon Law Violation. Two days later, on July 3rd, Bob died as a result of his gunshot wound. At that point, the agency would enter a separate incident of Justifiable Homicide. The incident date is the date Bob was shot by the officer - July 1st. The officer is the offender in the Justifiable Homicide, and Bob is the victim. Two days after that, on July 5th, the officer died as a result of his gunshot wound. The agency would edit the original Aggravated Assault offense to Murder, Non-Negligent Manslaughter (no edits would be required for the Weapon Law Violation offense). The incident date would remain the same - July 1st.

TIBRS Class Attendance

If you have signed up for a TIBRS class, but are unable to attend, please contact Dale King via email as soon as possible (Dale.King@tn.gov). Many of our classes meet the maximum number of participants and are then marked “FULL” on the TBI web site. Once the class is full, we cannot add anyone else to the roster.

Unfortunately, in some of our recent classes, several agencies have had several roster slots reserved (in some cases 5 to 6 people), but have not shown up for the class and did not notify us that they would not be able to attend. We realize that things come up that prevent agencies from attending, but if you know – even one day ahead of time – that you won’t be attending, please contact Dale and let him know. We can contact other agencies who have expressed interest in attending. Thanks!!
