April 2018

Child Abuse Prevention

Table of Contents

Child Abuse Prevention Month;
What Communities Can Do;
Darkness to Light;
Families First Prevention Services Act;
Children's Advocacy Days;
Awards;
Legislative Information;
Update.

Sign up to receive The Advocate at https://www.tn.gov/content/tn/tccy/advocate-collaborate/tccy-ac-advlegis/tccy-ac-advocacy/leg-listserv.html

April is Child Abuse Prevention Month

April is Child Abuse Prevention Month. Child abuse prevention organizations “plant” pinwheel gardens as annual observances of the month. In April, across Tennessee, there are opportunities focused on how to support families and reduce child maltreatment.

Individuals can write letters or op-eds to newspapers and display blue child abuse prevention pinwheels to call attention to prevention.
Communities, cities and states can help prevent child abuse. It is important for individuals, communities and governments to reach out to families to prevent child abuse.

The Five R’s

Prevent Child Abuse America has developed the following “Five R’s,” which list what can be done to prevent child abuse.

Raise the issue. Expect policymakers and local institutions to act. Call or write your candidates and elected officials to educate them. Contact your local school district and faith community to encourage them to support new parents.

Reach out in your community. Be good neighbors. Offer to baby-sit. Donate your children’s used clothing, furniture and toys for use by another family. Be kind and supportive, particularly to new parents and children.

Remember the risk factors and let others know. Be aware child abuse and neglect occur in all segments of our society but are more likely when the following exist:

• Abuse of alcohol or drugs;
• Family or community isolation;
• Lack of understanding and control of anger and stress;
• Caregivers appearing uninterested in the care of children;
• Serious economic, housing or personal problems.

Recognize the warning signs in children.

• Nervousness around adults;
• Aggression toward adults or other children;
• Inability to stay awake or to concentrate for extended periods;
• Sudden, dramatic changes in personality or activities;
• Acting out sexually or showing interest in sex that is not age-appropriate;
• Frequent or unexplained bruises or injuries;
• Low self-esteem;
• Poor hygiene.

Report suspected abuse or neglect. Tennessee law requires anyone who suspects child abuse or neglect to report it.

• In life-threatening situations, call 9-1-1;
• Call the Child Abuse Hotline to report to the Department of Children’s Services-877-237-0004;
• Report online at https://apps.tn.gov/carat/.

Darkness to Light: Preventing Child Sexual Abuse

One tool Tennessee agencies are using is the Darkness to Light program to prevent child sexual abuse. Darkness to Light provides information resources, and organizations are offering Stewards of Children trainings across the state. The group lists steps to protect our children:

Step 1: Learn the Facts;
Step 2: Minimize Opportunity by limiting times when children are isolated with one adult or youth;
Step 3: Talk About It;
Step 4: Recognize the signs;
Step 5: React Responsibly.

Family First Prevention Services Act

Legislation enacted in the February continuing budget resolution has been called the biggest change in federal child welfare funding structure since 1980. Changes in the Family First Prevention Services Act are designed to keep children out of the disruption and trauma of foster care and keep families together, and place children in the least restrictive, most appropriate family-like setting.

The program funds mental health, substance abuse and parenting education services to keep children out of care.

Children's Advocacy Days

The 30th Children's Advocacy Days is now a memory, a memory of stress and then success for TCCY staff and, we hope, a memory of fun and learning for others.

Dr. Vincent Felitti, whose appearance was sponsored by the ACE Awareness Foundation of Memphis, helped listeners get a deeper understanding of the original adverse childhood experiences (ACEs) study.
Dr. Roy Wade of Philadelphia reported on how he has expanded ACEs work to a more diverse population.

Participation by the Governor and First Lady, Governor's Children's Cabinet and commissioners, and Prevent Child Abuse Tennessee added to the program. Nearly 40 other organizations co-sponsored the event.

Youth voices included Southern Word spoken word poets, a Borderless Arts singer and students from the Glencliff High School Culinary Arts program.

2018 Children's Advocacy Days Presentations are available online at http://bit.ly/2pxTCCY.

Children’s Advocacy Days Awards

TCCY created a new award and presented its annual media and advocacy awards at Children's Advocacy Days. The Governor's Excellence in Early Foundations Awards and Prevent Child Abuse Tennessee Unsung Heroes were also announced.

The inaugural Linda O'Neal Lifetime Achievement Award was given to the TCCY executive director for whom it was named for her work on behalf of children. Linda has served as TCCY executive director for 30 years and plans to retire from the agency later this year.

U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Tennessee, and former state senator, Doug Overbey, received the Senator Douglas Henry Public Official Award for his leadership and support for children’s issues when he was in the General Assembly, including sponsoring legislation to improve juvenile justice and support services for children.

Matt Timm, Ph.D., whose work spanned the years from the creation of the RIP or Regional Intervention Program to the Association for Infant Mental Health in Tennessee (AIMHiTN), was recognized with the Jim Pryor Child Advocacy Award.
John Seigenthaler MAKING KIDS COUNT Media Awards were given to Joan Garrett McClane, staff writer for the Chattanooga Times Free Press; WKRN/Nexstar Media reporter Chris Bundgaard; WTCE-22, Cookeville public television staff Becky Magura, Brent Clark and Cindy Putman; Pretzel Pictures writer Yoshie Lewis; and singer Dolly Parton.

Governor Bill and First Lady Crissy Haslam presented the biennial Governor’s Awards for Excellence in Early Foundations to Prevent Child Abuse Tennessee and WCTE-22 Prevent Child Abuse Tennessee named Carolyn Remeder, West Tennessee; Cindy Fry, Middle Tennessee; and Jessica Reinhold, East Tennessee, as Unsung Heroes.

2018 Legislative Guidance Available
TCCY’s weekly Legislative Update is now available online. If you are receiving this newsletter because you are signed up for TCCY’s ListServ, you should also be receiving the Update newsletter with more information on legislative activities. A link on how to be added to the ListServ is at the bottom of this article.

Update
Natasha Smith, TCCY director of operations and special projects, completed Global Legacy Initiative Success Training Institute Certifications to become a top scholar, which included 100 scholarships to the non-profit organization Dream Centers of Tennessee in Nashville.
April 5, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Council on Children's Mental Health meeting, Midtown Hills Police Precinct, 1441 12th Ave S, Nashville. Contact Melissa.McGee@tn.gov.

April 10, 9 a.m., CDT/10 a.m. EDT, TRIAD’s Families First Program: Developing Successful Sleep Habits is a free workshop intended for parents of young children (ages 2-5) newly diagnosed with an autism spectrum disorder (ASD) to equip parents and caregivers with hands on, practical tools to support their child at home and in the community. The event will be offered in Chattanooga beginning at 10 a.m., EDT, and in Nashville and Jackson at 9 a.m., CDT.

April 11, 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., Upper Cumberland Council on Children and Youth presents "The Care of the Infant with Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome (NAS)," April 11, 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., Collegeside Church of Christ, 252 E. Ninth St., Cookeville. Free. Register at http://bit.ly/2pQ3SXe. Contact Kristi.Paling@tn.gov or 931-646-0955.

April 18th, 9 a.m. to 12 noon, East Tennessee Council on Children and Youth presents "Project iGuardian: Dangers of Online Activity," Bridgewater Place, Knoxville. Project iGuardian is a Homeland Security initiative “designed to inform youth, parents and educators about the risks that children face in the online environment." Register at http://bit.ly/2FETCCY.

April 19, 10 a.m., Second Look Commission meeting, Administrative Office of the Court Conference Room, 511 Union Street, Ste. 600, Nashville. Contact Craig.Hargrow@tn.gov.

April 25, 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Southwest Council on Children and Youth co-sponsors Union University’s "All Aboard: Getting on Track to Fight Opioid Addiction," Union University Grant Center. $20 cost includes breakfast, lunch and door prizes. Free for students, but lunch is $10. CEUs available for social workers, LADACs and nurses. Register at http://bit.ly/2FZJaLC (Scroll down on the page for information on this event.)

May 3, 12:30 to 3:30 p.m., Youth Transitions Advisory Council, Goodwill Industries of Middle Tennessee, 937 Herman Street, Nashville. Contact 615-532-1685 or steve.petty@tn.gov.

Return to Top.
In the News

Research Information

Tennessee KIDS COUNT Facts

No person shall, on the grounds of race, color, national origin, sex, age, religion, disability or ability to pay, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination under any program or activity operated, funded or overseen by the Tennessee Commission on Children and Youth (TCCY). It is the intent of TCCY to bind all agencies, organizations or governmental units operating under its jurisdiction and control to fully comply with and abide by the spirit and intent of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

To suggest content or manage subscriptions to The Advocate, contact fay.delk@tn.gov.

If you would like to receive this email through the TCCY ListServ, email listserv@listserv.tn.gov, leave the subject blank and type Subscribe TCCY Your First Name Your Last Name. Information on other address changes is available at https://www.tn.gov/tccy/advocate-collaborate/tccy-ac-advlegis/tccy-ac-advocacy/leg-listserv.html.