What is per capita personal income? Per capita personal income is the annual total personal income divided by the July 1 residential population. Personal income is the income received by all persons from participation in production, from government and business transfer payments, and from government interest. Personal income is the sum of net earnings by place of residence, rental income, personal dividend and interest income, and transfer payments. Personal income is measured before the deduction of personal income taxes and other personal taxes and is reported in current dollars (no adjustment is made for price changes). In simpler terms, it is the front page of your 1040 tax form.

In 2006, national per capita income grew 5.2 percent, up from 4.2 percent growth in the previous year. In 2006, Tennessee's per capita income increased by 4.3 percent to $32,304. In 2005, the per capita income in Tennessee was $30,969.

Louisiana's per capita income rebounded 25.5 percent in 2006 after falling 9 percent in 2005. The extreme variations in Louisiana were a result of the fixed asset destruction caused by Hurricanes Katrina and Rita in 2005 and a large population loss during that time. Solid wage gains in 2006 caused this large increase. The states with the highest growth rates after Louisiana were Wyoming (9 percent), Oklahoma (7.6), Utah (6.5), New Mexico (6.4), and New York (6.1). The states with the lowest growth rates were Georgia and Michigan (both 3.2 percent), and Nevada, North Dakota, Minnesota, Kentucky, and North Carolina (all 3.8 percent).

In 2006, Connecticut

had the highest state per capita income ($49,852), or 37 percent above the national average. Conversely, Mississippi had the lowest per capita income ($26,535), or more than 27 percent below the national average. The District of Columbia had a per capita income of $55,755. Tennessee's per capita income ranked 35th, unchanged from the previous year.

During the last year, the Tennessee population increased by 83,000 (1.4 percent). In 2006, Tennessee's population ranked 16th, unchanged from the previous year. The U.S. population increased by 2,891,000 (1 percent), with almost 50 percent of that increase in Texas, Florida, California, and Georgia. The states with the largest percentage increases were Arizona, Nevada, and Idaho (all over 2.5 percent).

(Continued from Page 5) Total nonfarm employment increased by 26,700 jobs from February 2006 to February 2007. During this period, there were increases in construction (up 8,200 jobs); accommodation/food services (up 7,200 jobs), which includes an increase of 6,600 jobs in food services/drinking; health care/social assistance (up 6,600 jobs), which includes an increase of 3,600 jobs in ambulatory health care services; professional/business services (up 3,400 jobs), which includes an increase of 2,400 jobs in administrative/support/waste management; wholesale trade (up 2,400 jobs), which includes an increase of 1,600 jobs in durable goods merchant wholesalers; retail trade (up 2,200 jobs), which includes an increase of 1,700 jobs in building material/garden equipment/supplies; truck transportation (up 2,000 jobs); and information (up 1,500 jobs), which includes an increase of 1,300 jobs in telecommunications. This was partially offset by manufacturing declines of 1,700 jobs in textile mills/products/apparel; 1,500 jobs in motor vehicle parts; 1,400 jobs in furniture/related product; 1,200 jobs in machinery; and 1,100 in food.

During February, nonfarm employment increased by 6,900 jobs. There were seasonal increases in state government educational services (up 5,300 jobs), local government educational services and educational services (both up 1,700 jobs), and food services/drinking places (up 1,400 jobs). This is partially offset by a decline in retail trade (down 2,400 jobs), which includes decreases of 1,400 jobs in both general merchandise stores and clothing/clothing accessories stores.

The data from all the nonfarm employment estimates tables includes all full- and part-time nonfarm wage and salary employees who worked during or received pay for any part of the pay period that includes the 12th of the month. This is a count of jobs by place of work. Agricultural workers, proprietors, self-employed persons, workers in private households, and unpaid family workers are excluded. These numbers may not add due to rounding. Data is based on the 2005 benchmark.

Total nonfarm employment increased by 900 jobs from January to February. There were seasonal increases in educational/health services (up 400 jobs), state government (up 300 jobs), and 200 jobs in both local government and accommodation/food services. This was partially offset by a decline of 200 jobs in trade/transportation/utilities.

During the past 12 months, nonfarm employment increased by 6,600 jobs. During that time, goods-producing jobs increased by 1,000, and service-providing jobs increased by 5,600.
